The Narzissenfest in Austria

In the spring, wild daffodils grow everywhere in the countryside in Austria. The best place to see them is the Ausseerland – Salzkammergut. There the hills and mountains are all yellow, white and green as far as the eye can see.

In Ausseerland – Salzkammergut, the white and yellow daffodils are in bloom between the middle of May and the middle of June. Narzissenfest, Austria's largest flower festival, takes place at this time every year. They make big sculptures out of the flowers and all the houses and streets are decorated with daffodils.

If you can come to Austria in spring, this is really a beautiful thing you must see.
