Teacher fired after showing Michelangelo's David in Class

In the art class ^{they} ~~we~~ wanted to ^{teach} ~~learn~~ about the Renaissance. The teacher showed ^{children} ~~the~~ Michelangelo's David. For everyone who ~~don't~~ ^{doesn't} know it: The statue is totally naked.

Talahassee, Florida. On the 25th of March 2023 a class had an art lesson. The class learned about the Renaissance. The art teacher Ms Carrasquilla (age) showed them the David statue ~~from~~ ^{by} Michelangelo. What the teacher didn't do: The parents of the 5th grade students weren't informed.

Paragraph 1

Michelangelo's David stands in Florence and was made about ~1500. The statue is totally naked, because Michelangelo wanted to show how ^{goodly} beautiful and perfect ^{about the human} the human is.

After that day, the students told their parents and they got angry. Ms Carrasquilla got fired. The Chair of the school board, Barney Bishop III (age), said: "It's not ok to show 11-12 year old students the David statue without the ~~ok~~ from their parents. We hope this will never happen again in this or any other school."

Greta Thunberg's Journey
By Malvin Camper

Greta Thunberg is a young activist from Sweden, who started to fight for ~~the~~^{our} climate at a young age and know is one of the biggest climate activists with two big awards.

Climate

2018. The climate is getting worse and worse every year. Greta, a young Swedish lady, ~~wasn't good~~^{couldn't accept} with that and wanted to make a change. She started going on protests with lots of students from her and other schools. She and some other ^{students} decided to start a campaign ^{against} for the climate change that year and called it "Fridays for Future". That campaign started to become a big one in 2018 and a lot of people from the whole world got to know about it.

Fridays for Future grew very fast in 2018-2019 and Greta got very popular. She started meeting big people from the whole world like our president "Van der Bellen". Van der Bellen also started to support the young lady after the meeting.

After two successful years with that campaign, Greta Thunberg won the "Honorary Doctorate" from the university of Bergen (Belgium) in 2019. "The Honorary Doctorate" is the highest honour a university can give a person to praise them for their scientific or societal impact.

The campaign became so popular that even in Graz (Austria), people go on a protest for the climate five years, ~~that~~ ^{and} Fridays for future is still going. Greta made a good big step in the direction of climate change. That's the reason why Greta Thunberg won another "Honorary Doctorate" this year (2023) from the University of Helsinki (Finland).

So keep on going ^{against} for the dramatic climate change!

That's an excellent article, Malvin!

Arts teacher ^{in Florida} got fired because she was doing her job. +

An arts teacher wanted to teach the children about the art in the Renaissance. Now she got fired because she did not inform the parents of her students about it.

What had happened?

Ms Carrasquilla was an arts teacher at a school in Tallahassee in Florida. ^{in her arts class on 25th March 2022} she wanted to teach her 6th grade students (11-12 years old) about the art in the Renaissance, so she showed them a picture of Michelangelo's David. Later the shocked parents came to her because she did not inform them about it. The parents say that showing pictures of naked statues counts as pornography and they should be informed about it. She got fired because she showed the students a statue.

Who ^{is} David?

Michelangelo's David is a famous statue in Florence (Italy). It shows a naked man, ^{who} is called David. It was built around 1500 and is one of the most famous statues in the Renaissance.

What are the consequences?

Do now all arts teachers have to ask for permission to show pictures of statues? Or worse, do now all teachers ask ~~and~~ inform the parents before teaching the children a new topic? And what are the consequences for the children when they are never allowed to see a naked statue? These are all questions no one can answer right now, but many people think of. So? What will happen next? A math teacher gets fired because she showed a summation? We will never know...

? What do you mean?

are thinking about

or better: ... but they need to be answered in a free society.

~~The teacher lost his~~ job, and can't work more?

by Sofija

On the 25th of March 2023 in Talghass, Florida the teacher Ms. Carrasquilla ~~went~~ ^{showed photos of} with her art class to see ~~the~~ ^{the} statue that is ~~named~~ Michelangelo's David. After this ~~lesson~~ ^{to her class} "joke" she lost her job! You would not believe, but she lost it because of the angry parents. It's seems weird, but after their children told them ~~them~~ ^{their parents} "I saw the statue of Michelangelo's David and it was funny, because everybody saw his *!" parents became very ~~stressed~~ ^{shocked} and angry.

For them the biggest problem was that ~~the~~ ^{the} children were too small (they were in 6th grade) to see ~~this~~ ^{the naked body}. Half of the parents came to ~~the~~ ^{the} chair of school board Barney Bishop III and started to ~~say something~~ ^{complain} like: "How could you ~~not~~ ^{not} didn't inform us?" or "My little daughter never saw something disgusting before! Teacher fired after showing Michelangelo's David in class.

A teacher in Florida got fired for showing pictures of a naked statue.

By Kevin Zetter

The famous statue

Michelangelo's David is a very well known statue from the the year around 1500. It was created during the Renaissance where paintings and statues were often made.

Upset parents

(The teacher) Mr. Grossquillo is an in her 6th grade art teacher. Their next topic was about the Renaissance and Mr. Grossquillo showed a picture of Michelangelo's David. The parents were not informed about this and some parents were really upset about that. These parents claim that their children were disgusted by seeing the naked statue.

The parent met with the chair of the school board; Ramsey Bishop III about the incident and he decided to fire the art teacher.

What does this mean for our future?

If the teacher always has to ask the parents for approval when he wants to teach something some parents may refuse that their children learn about the education of . . . If parents can decide what their children will get educated in the children may not be ready for the next school or a job. central topics.

That's excellent writing!

* how the private parts of the body from a boy's what

What is your opinion about getting a teacher fired, just because she showed a picture ~~naked~~ picture about Michelangelo's David in class. Well ⁱⁿ from my opinion ~~as~~ it is nonsense it doesn't really make any difference ^{if} if he is naked or ~~not~~ not because ~~we~~ every boy knows how it looks like and the girls will ^{certainly} still see something like that in a naked boy.

In Tallahassee, Florida on the 25th March 2023 got a tech teacher ^{was} fired because she showed the kids showing art class a naked picture of Michelangelo David's statue.

The teacher showed the kids the picture without any permission from ^{their} parents. The kids were 11-12 years old. So they were 6th 6th grades.

Ms Carrasquilla which is the name of the teacher, started teaching about him and ~~about~~ at the Renaissance. After ^{the} parent found out what the teacher ^{had done} ~~did~~, they ~~started~~ ~~she~~ was sued until she got kicked out of the school from the ~~the~~ chair of school board, Barry Bishop.

Because of this incident many rumors started accessing ⁱⁿ through the ~~whole~~ internet. Also a lot of people are against the parents ~~and~~ for the teacher.

Teacher fired after showing Michelangelo's David in class

+ After showing Michelangelo's David ^{to} ~~in~~ a class of 6th graders, an art teacher from Florida lost her job.

By: Valentin Kitsberger

did... got!

+ Michelangelo's David is a statue in Florence which was built in the Renaissance. But why did the teacher, Ms Carrasquilla ^e get fired? The problem was that the statue is completely naked. After hearing that the parents of the children started to complain, that Ms Carrasquilla didn't inform them before ~~showing their children~~ showing their children a naked statue. ~~was wanted for~~ ~~the teacher~~ ^{they} complained and complained until the chair of school board Barney Bishop III fired the teacher. Now Ms Carrasquilla and people from all around* are complaining and wondering why a teacher can lose her job for doing her job, teaching the children about the Renaissance. In general people are saying that this is just one of many things, that shows how broken our society is. If a teacher can be fired for teaching something some parents are not okay with, where will this all go? What will the teachers teach in the future, if they are worried about losing their job when they are teaching something some parents are not okay with.

That's excellent writing, Valentin

Teacher Fired after showing Michelangelo's David in Class

In

Lesson

At Florida, Tallahassee on 25th March 2023 ^{taught a} ~~did~~ the art teacher Ms Carrasquilla ~~taught~~ about art from the Renaissance to 6th grade students. Instead of just ~~allowing~~ letting the 12 year olds draw, she actually tried to educate them with culture. We are talking about, the famous Statue in Florence that was built back in the 1500s; Michelangelo's David, that hundreds of people visit everyday.

So what was the problem ~~with~~ with showing such a famous statue?

Ms Carrasquilla got ~~not~~ not just fired but ^{got} completely banned from teaching ever again, and ~~also~~ ^{did} the principle, of the school, by Barney Bishop III the chair of the school board, for showing nudity in class without informing the parents. But then shouldn't it be also illegal/not appropriate for a biology teacher to show or teach kids about sex and their bodies without informing the parents?

actually she was the principal herself.
