The house on a lake

Arthur pulled the blanket all over his face and tried to blind the sound out. A cold shiver ran down his spine when the moon was shining directly into his face. He was really scared but he still managed to turn on the light. Suddenly Arthur heard a strange sound and all lights went out again. In this second of brightness he saw the shadow of a big monster which was standing in front of his bed. ~~Lightning was flashing~~ He could hear the wind blowing and a wolf was howling far off in the distance. With a loud sound his window opened and all the cold air belated over his face. He got goosebumps. He thought that if he just wouldn't move the monster wouldn't notice him. He closed his eyes and tried to ignore everything. It must be a nightmare he thought. Suddenly a cold hand grabbed his neck and he opened his eyes. He stared directly into the eyes of a massive werewolf. Arthur was freezing with fear. He couldn't move and started to sweat.

The monster's mouth came closer and closer and he opened his mouth.* Suddenly everything turned pitch dark. Arthur woke up with a scream. He was still shaking. He looked around him but there was no monster. His heart started to beat normally. It was just a nightmare he thought.

* Arthur started shaking and his heart was beating faster and faster.

The house on Calle

Arthur was laying in his bed, and staring on the shadows in his room. It was a dark night and outside ravens were screaming loudly. There were so many clouds in the sky that you couldn't see the stars, only the full moon was shining brightly. It was very windy and the moon was casting shadows on the walls.

The boy didn't move, he was too scared that he is not alone in the dark. He was even too scared to scream for his father.

He stopped breathing ^{for a second} when he suddenly heard a noise under his bed. Arthur didn't dare to say anything when he saw a hand, with only four fingers, under his bed. An old, scary voice said: "Arthur, Arthur, Arthur, what are you going to do now? Do you want to know who I am? No? I will tell you anyway!" Arthur wanted to scream but ^{he didn't know} what the thing ^{under his bed} would do to him or his father if he would scream? "I am the real owner of this house and I lived here happy till you two came! Now I am going to take revenge! First I will eat you and then your dad! But there is one way to survive, if you can bring your dad to move out in the next three days, I won't eat you! And now good night you have to sleep," the voice said. Then the hand suddenly disappeared without a noise.

On the next day Arthur woke up and ran to his father. He told him what had happen and that they had to move out in the next three days, but his father told him that the voice was just a dream and he should stop being such a kid.

The whole day long Arthur tried to talk to his dad and convince him to move out but his dad just ignored him.

When he went to bed this night the voice suddenly appeared: "He didn't believe you, right? Don't forget you only have two days left!" Arthur just tried to convince himself to sleep, but he decided that he has to show his father the voice, so he slowly stood up and went to his father's room, but when he entered, his dad was laying on the carpet blood all over his body, and on the wall someone painted, with blood, the words: "run if you don't want to end like this!!!" Arthur's knees were shaking when he ran down the stairs, he was crying and suddenly he tripped over something. He fell on the floor and with trembled voice he asked loudly: "Why are you doing this! You said I have two days left?" "Oh did I? I am so sorry dear, I changed my mind!" Arthur ran out of the house to the lake. He didn't know what to do so he asked quietly: "Are you here too?" Before anyone could answer the wind pushed him into the lake. He was a great swimmer but something was holding his leg pulling him down. He screamed and the last thing he heard was a mean and crazy laugh: "Of course I am here! I am everywhere!"

A few days later the newspaper said: "Child of serial killer, killed his father and himself!"

And after a few months, a young couple entered the house when they heard a mean grin.

spid the persen
"Where are you??!" With the last strength of his body Arthur got out ~~from~~ ^{under} his eyes and said "I am here!!". But suddenly the lights went on. It was his dad Tom. Arthur started to cry. His dad hugged ~~him~~ him and asked if the joke was good? Arthur said: Dad are you serious right ~~now~~ ^{now} It was very scary?
His dad ~~laughed~~ laughed "HAHAHA". "It's not funny dad!"
said Arthur. Are you forget halloween Arthur? I want only playing jokes with you don't be scared sorry.
"It's okay dad it's my fault to forget the halloween" said Arthur. After that day Arthur never forgot the halloween. The End

* loudly

* said his dad

Suddenly he heard a strange noise. The noise came from the next room. During the night he couldn't sleep. The noise was like a man because it was a deep voice. His hands were shaking with fear. He stood up and he went to his phone, that was standing on his desk. Suddenly he heard the noise again. The child was shaking with fear. He took her phone and ran again to his bed. He opened his phone and he started to watch youtube. And he watch 30 min and he didn't hear the voice. Slowly his eyes start to close and he sleep. After few minutes suddenly someone knocked his door "click click opened the door." That made him curious and he decided to check what was going on. He took a big breath and he opened the door. Suddenly he heard a sound from the balcony. His house was next to a forest. He tried to went slowly and quiet to the balcony. He should be quiet because his mom was sleeping. Arthur feeled that he was not alone he feeled that someone followed him. He had drawn and he saw nobody, but he feel someone behind him. He went slowly to balcony and he touched the door handle from the balcony it was very dirty. He opened the door handle. He saw the leaves were rustling in the wind. The shadows were dancing across the sky. He heard the first noise again like the man with his deep voice. Arthur voice was trembling with fear he want to say something but he couldn't. He ran to his room and he took his phone he wanted to make a picture from the man. The man looks very creepy he had real eyes. Finally Arthur realized what was making the noise. Arthur watch the man. A bat touched his hear and he screamed. And he ran away from the bat.

1st Test

Suddenly Arthur was hearing a dark voice under his bed telling him to go to the attic and look in every little dirty box until he found two little mirrors and then go back to his ^{room} until he knows what for he can use them or the voice must kill him.

Arthur jumped out of his bed and looked under it, but he couldn't see a thing. With small and fast footsteps he found the way to the attic and started to look in all the dirty boxes. As he looked out of the window the fog started to disappear. He ran down the stairs in his room and changed his pyjama to his normal things. When he got down in the eatingroom he saw his dad sitting on the table and reading the newspaper. After a quiet and fast breakfast his father told him that he will go in town and Arthur can come too but the boy wanted to stay in the house. As his father left the house he ran up to the attic and was looking for the mirrors as he saw a beautiful closet in a dark and dusty corner ^{in the back} of the attic. When he opened the closet a heavy wind came out and closed all the open windows. Arthur was really nervous and was shaking with fear. He went a few steps back and fell down the stairs. The woman how was lived in the house next to them heard a loud scream and ran to the house from Arthur and as she opened the door she saw the dead body from Arthur on the floor.

His father was so sad that he killed himself.
