

Cut along the lines!

Instructions:

Put the dialogues in the right order. Then try to decide why the speakers use different forms. Choose from the following meanings:

Arrangement, intention, prediction, decision

I bet he'll take you to MacDonald's!

1. Pete's taking me out to dinner tomorrow.

That will be expensive.

He will probably make you pay for yourself.

Well, in that case, I won't go then.

No, he's going to take me to a French restaurant.

I'll lend you my black dress if you want.

Of course it will!

I'm going to leave my black jeans on.

It won't fit me.

1. Dad's taking me to the opera tonight.

What are you going to wear?