

Dear parents of Matilda!

As you know your daughter is in my class. My name is Jenny Honey and I'm the class teacher of Matilda. When Matilda came into the room I felt she's special. Then I asked who learned already the two-time-table. Matilda put her hand up and said the whole two-time-table without any mistakes. When I asked her who learned it with her she said that she learned it by herself. Then she told me some other examples of the six-, seven- and eight-time-table. Then I gave your daughter a book and she read it perfectly without mistakes. She told me ~~perfectly~~ she learned reading by herself. I think Matilda is a very special girl. I ~~think~~ think Matilda is mature for a higher class. She's really smart. Please send me a permission so I know you are agree with it.

Best wishes, Ms. Honey

It was a funny and a mystical scene. It was Monday the seventh January 12 o'clock when it happened.

Miss Trunchbull

A child told us the whole story. When Miss Trunchbull came into the room she asked a boy the three-time-table backwards. Because he didn't know it she grabbed him at his feet. Suddenly the chalk went up and wrote on the blackboard "Apotha, this is Magnus. This is Magnus and you'd better believe it. Apotha, give my Jenny back her house her wages the house. Then you get out of here if you don't I will come and get you, I will come and get you like you get me. I'm watching you Apotha. Then the chalk fell down like nothing happened. Suddenly Miss Trunchbull fell down. Probably she will never come again. Mystical!
