UMRAH DIARY 2017

going to border, maybe go a little bit around in the airport, and then we will go to the gate. Right now I'm really tired, like I only slept in the airplane in 15-20 min but yeah, I'm happy obviously and excited but you know, I think when I come there it will be so different feelings and stuff, cause you know, it's our first time. Bye Bye later.

17. Februar 14.30 o'clock

Sooooo... We have been so busy and it's only first now we have a break, lol and that's probably going to only be 1 hour. Soooo we got in the plane from Istanbul, busines.. And when we came to Medina our driver picked us up, and 30 minutes later we arrived to the Hotel. And with out a break we went to Fajr Prayer, and where there 2 hours I think. Then we came back and I slept for two hours, then we woke up and went to the Mosq, where we were going to pray Juma. And to be honest it was really amazing, and unreal.

18. Februar In the morning 7.02

So right now I got to the Hotel, actually just our room. We just ate breakfast, and now me and my sis are in our room and going to sleep. So

DIARY

So after juma we prayed Ahsar and then we went all around the Masjid. When we came to the place where our beloved Prof. et is resting, I went black, I cried so much cause this was what we have planned our whole life. So after that we prayed Maghrib and then we slept for Isha. It is hard, but even though we only sleep, 2-3 hour at one I don't feel tired, I feel fresh. The sleeps I get here is incredible. So then we prayed Isha, and Subhanallah, Alhamdulillah, we made it to the Spot, "a piece of Paradise." It was really full of people, but from the start we decided not to push anybody. So then we came back around 1.30 of night, and no yes, we woke up for Fajr and just ate, See yaa!

21. Februar 17.02.

So I didn't had time to write, cause we have been so so busy, but anyway. So one day after I wrote (18. Februar) It was our last day in Medina so we spend it in the Masjid and alhamdulillah I prayed 4 x Nafel, in the little piece called Paradise, It was so amazing. So the day after in the morning, we were going to Mekka. The drive took 4 hours, and we took a stop to a place called "Wahdie Inn and I cannot translate it directly, but it's the evil place, not because it's evil but yeah. But here the cars drove by them self, and it was so sick! Then we came to Mekka, and a little time after we came, we alhamdulillah did Umrah, our whole accept. So today we just prayed and did some other stuff, and now we just came up to our Hotel, and we're going to eat something now, so see yaaa!

24. Februar 06:27 o'clock in the morning
So actually it's the 25 of Februar, hahaha but right I'm actually sitting in Istanbul I mean Jeddah Airport in Mekka, Saudia Arabia. We have been doing a little something since I last wrote. But Imma just going to take the best parts.

So I think the Wednesday, we were to ziera, and that is basically history things about the country and stuff. So we took our Private Taxi, and we saw a lot of beautiful things. Lots of the ziera was closed cause the Saudi and the Government don't do these things, so that's only all the other people like Turkey's, Pakistani and stuff. So we first went to Rare Sour, wich is where our Beloved Profet, hided from all the people who wanted to heart him. And it was up in the Mountains around 750 m high, but we didn't went all up. Then we went to Jabre Rahmet, where 'Adam and Eva', like you guys call them, ~~founded~~ each other again, after being "kicked" out of heaven. And there we prayed and yeah, moved on.

The next stop was Rare Hira, which also are a mountain, it looks higher than Rare Sour, but Rare Sour is bigger. There we went all up, it took about 40 the one way and 30 minutes the other way. So what that's basically is, is where our Beloved Profet, got his "Abenbaringer" from Allah wta. In a Grotte, and alhamdulillah, daddy and I managed to go in there and kiss it, alhamdulillah I was so happy and thankful.

The last big ziera was Minah, yay! the name of my cousin... no it actually have an whole other meaning. It's a place where people who do Hajj, go to, and Hajj is like Umrah but just more longer, and bigger and stuff. So these where some of the ziera.

So right. Imma write some of my last reflections and thoughts about all this. So to be honest, my favorite was absolutely Medina, no doubt about that. It was just more calm and peaceful, and not so many people. But I think it was really good that we first took to Medina and then to Mecca. When we were in Mecca of course it was beautiful and stuff, but all the high buildings ruined everything. And I could feel that the time we were in Mecca was enough, course in "Længden" it was hard. But defiantly! the Hotels and Shops, were much better in Mecca. But all in total, it was fantastik, and I can't even believe it's already over, like I could remember when we were so excited to come here and stuff, but now all things are already over. Thank god, for giving me and my family this opportunity to go to such a amazing place. Inshallah we will come here again soon, if god decide. ♡

excited / looking forward to Thank you Tabs, This was very interesting to read

I feel very privileged
