

to add

hinzufügen
She added an important thing.

to announce

ansagen, verkünden
The teacher announced something in class to ask

fragen
I asked the teacher because I wasn't sure.

to tell

The teacher told us a story of a boy.

to whisper

flüstern
We had to whisper because my brother already slept

to yell

schreien
I sometimes yell like a stuck pig

(Wie am Spieß brüllen)

to bitch

keifen, meckern
When I was smaller I always bitch when my brother did something wrong.

to rap

rappen
Instead of singing, she rapped. ↘

to read

lesen
She read a book to us.

sagen

to bellow

brüllen
When I am angry, I bellow

to yak

quatschen, ratschen (Sometimes, my friends and me yak during school lessons. ↘) sinnlose Dinge

to repeat

wiederholen
I had to repeat the sentence because he didn't understand it.

to reply

antworten
I replied her question.

to pray

beten
I prayed, that the math-test wasn't that easy to suggest

vorschlagen
I suggested that that we get less homework.

to answer

antworten
I answered my friend.

to respond

antworten
look at "reply" and "to answer"

to mumble

muscheln

to declare

verkünden, bekannt machen
I declared, that the test in Physics was one week later.

to gawk
look at
to gape

to witness

bezeugen, miterleben
can
I witness it!

to gape

gaffen, glotzen
The girls gaped

to the police car.

to recognize

erkennen
I recognized him
too late.

to spy

spähen
The thief spied

to the shop
he robbed

to watch

zuschauen
I blamed myself
and he watched
me while she was making fun over me.

LOOK

to view

betrachten
I viewed the toy.

to blink

blinzeln
We were staring
at each others eye
and she blinked first

to observe

beobachten
"I observed, that
trees don't grow
in Winter"

to stare

starren
I don't know why,
but this person is
still staring at me!

to glance

blicken
He stole a glance (Er warf einen verstohlenen Blick)

to peek

spähen, laueren
He sneaked a peek.

to eye

beäugen
She eyed the apple because she was so hungry.

to scan

scannen
She tried to scan
the environment so
she could flee
easily.

VOCAB PART

Emily Schweighofer

Language-practice book